a Jewish home for breath and movement

PURIM ECSTATIC DANCE — TOUCH THE OTHER SIDE (OR: THE AFTERPARTY)

Rabbi Jordan Schuster
Faculty, Director of Mekorot
Rabbinical School of Hebrew College

Lawrence Dreyfuss
HC Rabbinical Student
Director of Ritual Lab

THE STORY

One year ago, following Purim, we stepped into darkness as the pandemic swept across the globe. For one night, the Jewish tradition teaches us to untether from the black bile, to shake off the pain of this past year and indulge in revelry. Join us after the Megillah reading for an exploration of what it means to untether and transcend. Come sober, come drunk, come prepared to dance. Costumes, glitter, and loose clothes to move in are encouraged.

DANCE PARTY DETAILS

FULL MOON OF ADAR: Thursday 2/25, 9:00-11:00pm ET Free of Charge // You Can Donate to a Worthy Cause Instead!

OUR GUIDES

Lawrence Dreyfuss is an international performance artist and first year rabbinical student at Hebrew College. He is a former coordinator with New York Ecstatic Dance and former manager of a high school theater program on the island of Oahu. Jordan Schuster was ordained at the Rabbinical School of Hebrew College in 2018, where he currently teaches courses in Tanakh and Mishna. Since November, Jordan's found himself possessed by the early 18th century grimoire, Sefer Raziel.
